In this clear and concise introduction, John Leonard DAVIS explains and defends postmillennialism -- the view that through the preaching of the gospel, Christ's kingdom will enjoy an unprecedented period of numerical expansion and spiritual vitality.

Was Jesus born of a virgin? Did he know he was the Messiah? Was he bodily resurrected from the dead? Did he intentionally die to redeem mankind? Was Jesus God? Two leading Jewish scholars with widely divergent views go right to the heart of these questions and others, presenting the opposing visions of Jesus that shape our faith today.

Show hows the questions posed by Albert Schweitzer a century ago remain today: sketches a profile of Jesus in terms of his prophetic praxis, his subversive stories, his symbolism and the answers he gave to key questions, in a debate-igniting examination of Jesus' aims and beliefs, argued on the basis of his actions and letters about Jewish and Greek culture and history.

Tragedy is timeless and universal. So is victory, which is defined by the author's life as letting God have the controls -- allowing him to expose previously hidden beauty, now displayed for the sake of others. This inspiring life story has moved countless others to overcome and look at adversity from God's perspective.
